Third Sunday of Advent
December 14, 2014

"We do not have to look far to see that more and more of our culture is becoming accepting of the homosexual lifestyle and same-sex unions. This is not too surprising as individualism and autonomous living continue to become the norm in our society. … It seems to me that our society is at a crossroads in understanding the truth about marriage and the importance of the family in society. Marriage today is looked at more as a way to self-fulfillment. When something is valued only within the context of self-fulfillment, it is bound to be detrimental to society as a whole and to the common good. It is contrary to God's purpose for our lives. … If the true meaning of marriage and the family is going to endure, much education and conversion must happen. Faithful Catholics must lend their voices to the discussion. If we believe in the sacredness of the sacrament of marriage, then we have to fight for it in our society today, not giving up hope, but finding ways to proclaim the truth about marriage and the family."

Bishop Robert D. Gruss, Proclaim truth with love through open and honest discussion, West River Catholic, October 2014. www.rapidcitydiocese.org
